

Hand in Hand: Enjoying faith as a family

This new resource has been designed both for parents who are already strong in their faith and desire to nurture this in their children, and for those who feel less certain. It is a way of allowing families to share and enjoy their faith together.

The booklet comprises a number of sections, including practical ways in which to share family spirituality and celebrate the wonder of life in good times and bad, which can be used to enable us to develop our personal and family faith and more.

How about using it as part of a Baptism preparation or even as a present for Baptism?
